CLOVE MACHINES GO TO PORTLAND

HARVESTER FACTORY
TO LEAVE PENDLETON.

John Clove Makes Arrangements to Have the Rigby-Clove Combined Built in Portland—Will Superintend the Manufacture of the Machines and Will Collect a Royalty—Company Could Not Be Capitalized in Pendleton.

The Rigby-Clove combined harvester which has been manufactured in this city for the past three years, will hereafter be manufactured in Portland, Mr. Clove, the inventor, having completed arrangements by which he will work on a large salary, as superintendent of the factory, and aside from this collect a royalty from every machine turned out.

He is not yet ready to give out the name of the company to manufacture the machines, but all the details have been arranged and work of building them in large numbers, for the inland empire trade, will begin at once.

Mr. Clove tried in vain to interest Pendleton capital in the factory, that it might be kept in this city, near the farming districts in which the machines are in demand, but interest in the project was not sufficient to warrant the organization of a local company, with enough capital to successfully launch the project on the scale contemplated by Mr. Clove.

The plans of Mr. Clove were to capitalize the old Rigby-Clove company, which became embarrassed last spring, and reorganize here, keep the plant in operation here, enlarge it, add more improved machinery, and manufacture at least 45 machines each year, to supply the demand for them from all the wheat districts of the inland empire.

The plant under the reorganization, being impossible he made immediate arrangements for the manufacture of the machines in Portland, under very favorable conditions and will soon be shipping them from that city to the wheat centers of Eastern Oregon and Washington.

Wherever the Rigby-Clove machine has been tried, it has proved to be an unqualified success, under all conditions, and the limited force and facilities of the factory here only prevented the company from sending out 100 machines in this district in the past three years, instead of but the limited number sent out.

The Horsepower Unit.

How many folk who talk glibly about the "horsepower" of a motor car know what the horsepower unit is? Even those who are aware that this unit represents the force that will raise 33,000 pounds one foot per minute, probably do not know that this considerably exceeds what the average horse can do, and that the figures were settled by James Watt about a century ago in a curious fashion. Watt, in his usual careful manner, had calculated what the average horse in his neighborhood could do, and he found that the raising of 22,000 pounds per foot per minute was about the actual horsepower. At the time he was engaged in the manufacture of engines and had almost a monopoly of the engine building trade. Customers were so hard to find that all kinds of artificial encouragements were considered necessary to induce power users to buy steam engines. As a method of encouraging business Watt offered to sell engines reckoned at 33,000 foot pounds to a horsepower, or one-half more than the average. And thus what was intended as a temporary expedient to promote business was the means of giving a false unit of a very important measurement to the world.

Fishing by 'Phone.

A Norwegian has invented a queer way of finding out where the fish are. A microphone, which is an instrument that will catch and transmit the least bit of sound, is lowered into the water from a fishing smack and a wire from it leads to a telephone on board the boat. Now, as the herring, codfish and mackerel schools number thousands and ten of thousands of fish, their passage through the water naturally causes a rushing sound, which can be heard by the fisherman at the telephone. Thus they are enabled to lower their nets at the right time and in the right place.

What $1.00 Will Buy.

For this entire week the Peoples Warehouse will make a dollar bigger in purchasing power than ever before. $1.00 buys 26 yards good calico; $1.00 buys 21 yards, not simply good, but the best gingham made; $1.00 will buy 15 pounds best sugar at the Peoples Warehouse. Every department in the big store is improving its record breaking values and that's why the crowd goes there.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which, despite the most beneficent environment of soil-of sunshine-and of atmosphere, seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vasoline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
